Dear Mr. Neuman:

I am writing to introduce myself as the new Chief Executive Officer of Youth Crime Watch of America. Several current Board members have told me of your long history of dedicated service to the organization, so I very much wanted to reach out and thank you for all of your contributions.

I am happy to let you know that over the past year, we have embarked on several interesting initiatives. Working together with the Board of Directors, we have designed and are now beginning to implement an exciting, new business plan and program model. We look for this plan to be the blueprint that will allow YCWA to become an internationally renowned leader in the fields of youth development and crime prevention in the months and years to come.

As someone who has dedicated so much to YCW, I thought you would be interested in hearing first hand all that we are doing. Please know that I intend to follow up this letter with a phone call some time in the next few weeks. At that time, I hope we can schedule a time to meet in person.

Thank you once again for your many contributions to the Youth Crime Watch movement. I look forward to our conversation.

Sincerely,

Christopher DiCarlo
